

About the Author

Jagdish N. Srivastava (PhD 1961) is a Fellow of The World Academy of Science (TWAS) for developing countries, and a Fellow of the top world organizations in Statistics and in Combinatorial Mathematics. In 1998, two large felicitation volumes containing articles from top experts from all over the world were published to in the honor of his contributions. He is the Founder and Editor-in-Chief of Journal of Statistical Planning and Inference. He has been President of several world organizations. Many important discoveries bear his name. Since the sixties, he is also interested in Philosophy, Consciousness, Quantum Physics, and Spirituality, in which he has lectured internationally and written extensively.