

About the Author

Padma Bhushan, Professor B. M. Hegde, is the retired former Vice Chancellor of the Manipal Academy of Higher Education (Deemed University) Manipal. He is also the Affiliate Professor of Community Health, University of Northern Colorado and the first Asian Visiting Professor of Cardiology at Middlesex Hospital Medical School, University of London.

University of London.

He has also received training in cardiology from Harvard Medical School under Bernard Lown, a Nobel Laureate. In 2003, he was awarded the Pride of India Award from the Federation of Indian Associations of Northern California, the Dr. B C Roy National Award for the year 1999 in the category of "Eminent Medical Teacher," and the Jagdish Chander Bose Award in Life Sciences for the year 1999. For his contributions in the field of medicine, in 2010, he received the third highest civilian award Padma Bhushan. His many other awards, achievements, and honorary positions are enumerated on his website: <http://www.bmhegde.com>.