

About the Author

Dr. Héctor Rosario is an associate professor of mathematics at the University of Puerto Rico, Mayagüez Campus. He obtained his Ph.D. from Columbia University in New York City in 2003. He is an editor of the forthcoming book Mathematics and Its Teaching in the Southern Americas (World Scientific Publishing), an anthology of the history of mathematics in 17 countries in Latin America and the Caribbean. He lives with his wife and children trying to foster a spiritual atmosphere at home.

