

About the Author

Prof. P. B. Sharma is Vice-Chancellor for Delhi Technological University (Delhi College Of Engineering), India. He was founder Vice Chancellor of Rajiv Gandhi Technological University, Bhopal. Prof. P.B. Sharma is an eminent academician and able educational administrator. He has worked in highly reputed universities/organizations which include, IIT Delhi, where he was a Professor Of Mechanical Engineering (1978-90); Delhi College of Engineering as its principal since 1990. Prof. Sharma was handpicked from I-JK by IIT Delhi where he has made significant contributions to teaching and research which include a number of projects for Ministry of Defence, Aeronautical Research and Development Board, major consultancy projects to GTRE Bangalore and also to Ws Rolls Royce of UK on new concepts in aero-compressor developments.

At Delhi College Of Engineering, Prof. Sharma has revived DCE to an institution Of high international and national ranking and has implemented a number of innovative academic and research projects. Prof. Sharma was invited to be the Founder Vice Chancellor Of Rajiv Gandhi Technological University. Bhopal where, he has made significant contributions to the growth of quality education and research and within a span of 4 years RGTU developed as one of the leading technological universities in the country. Educated in India and abroad. Prof. Sharma graduated with Gold Medal at Bachelor's degree in Engineering from Vikram University, Ujjain (Madhya Pradesh), is a Topper Of Masters degree from University of Birmingham and holds a Ph.D. degree in Mechanical Engineering from University of Birmingham (UK). Prof. Sharma possesses immense wealth of knowledge and is a man of vision and proven ability to head higher education in India. He is a man of high integrity, is deep-rooted ethical values and can be truly classified as a break through leader.